What is a Japanese Bath House?

A Japanese bath house is a wonderful way to relax, let go, contemplate, and be at peace! There are different natural minerals in the water that have healing properties which can be good for your skin, heart, immune system and more! The baths can also have different temperatures and consistencies.

There are a few rules to follow when attending a Japanese bath house:

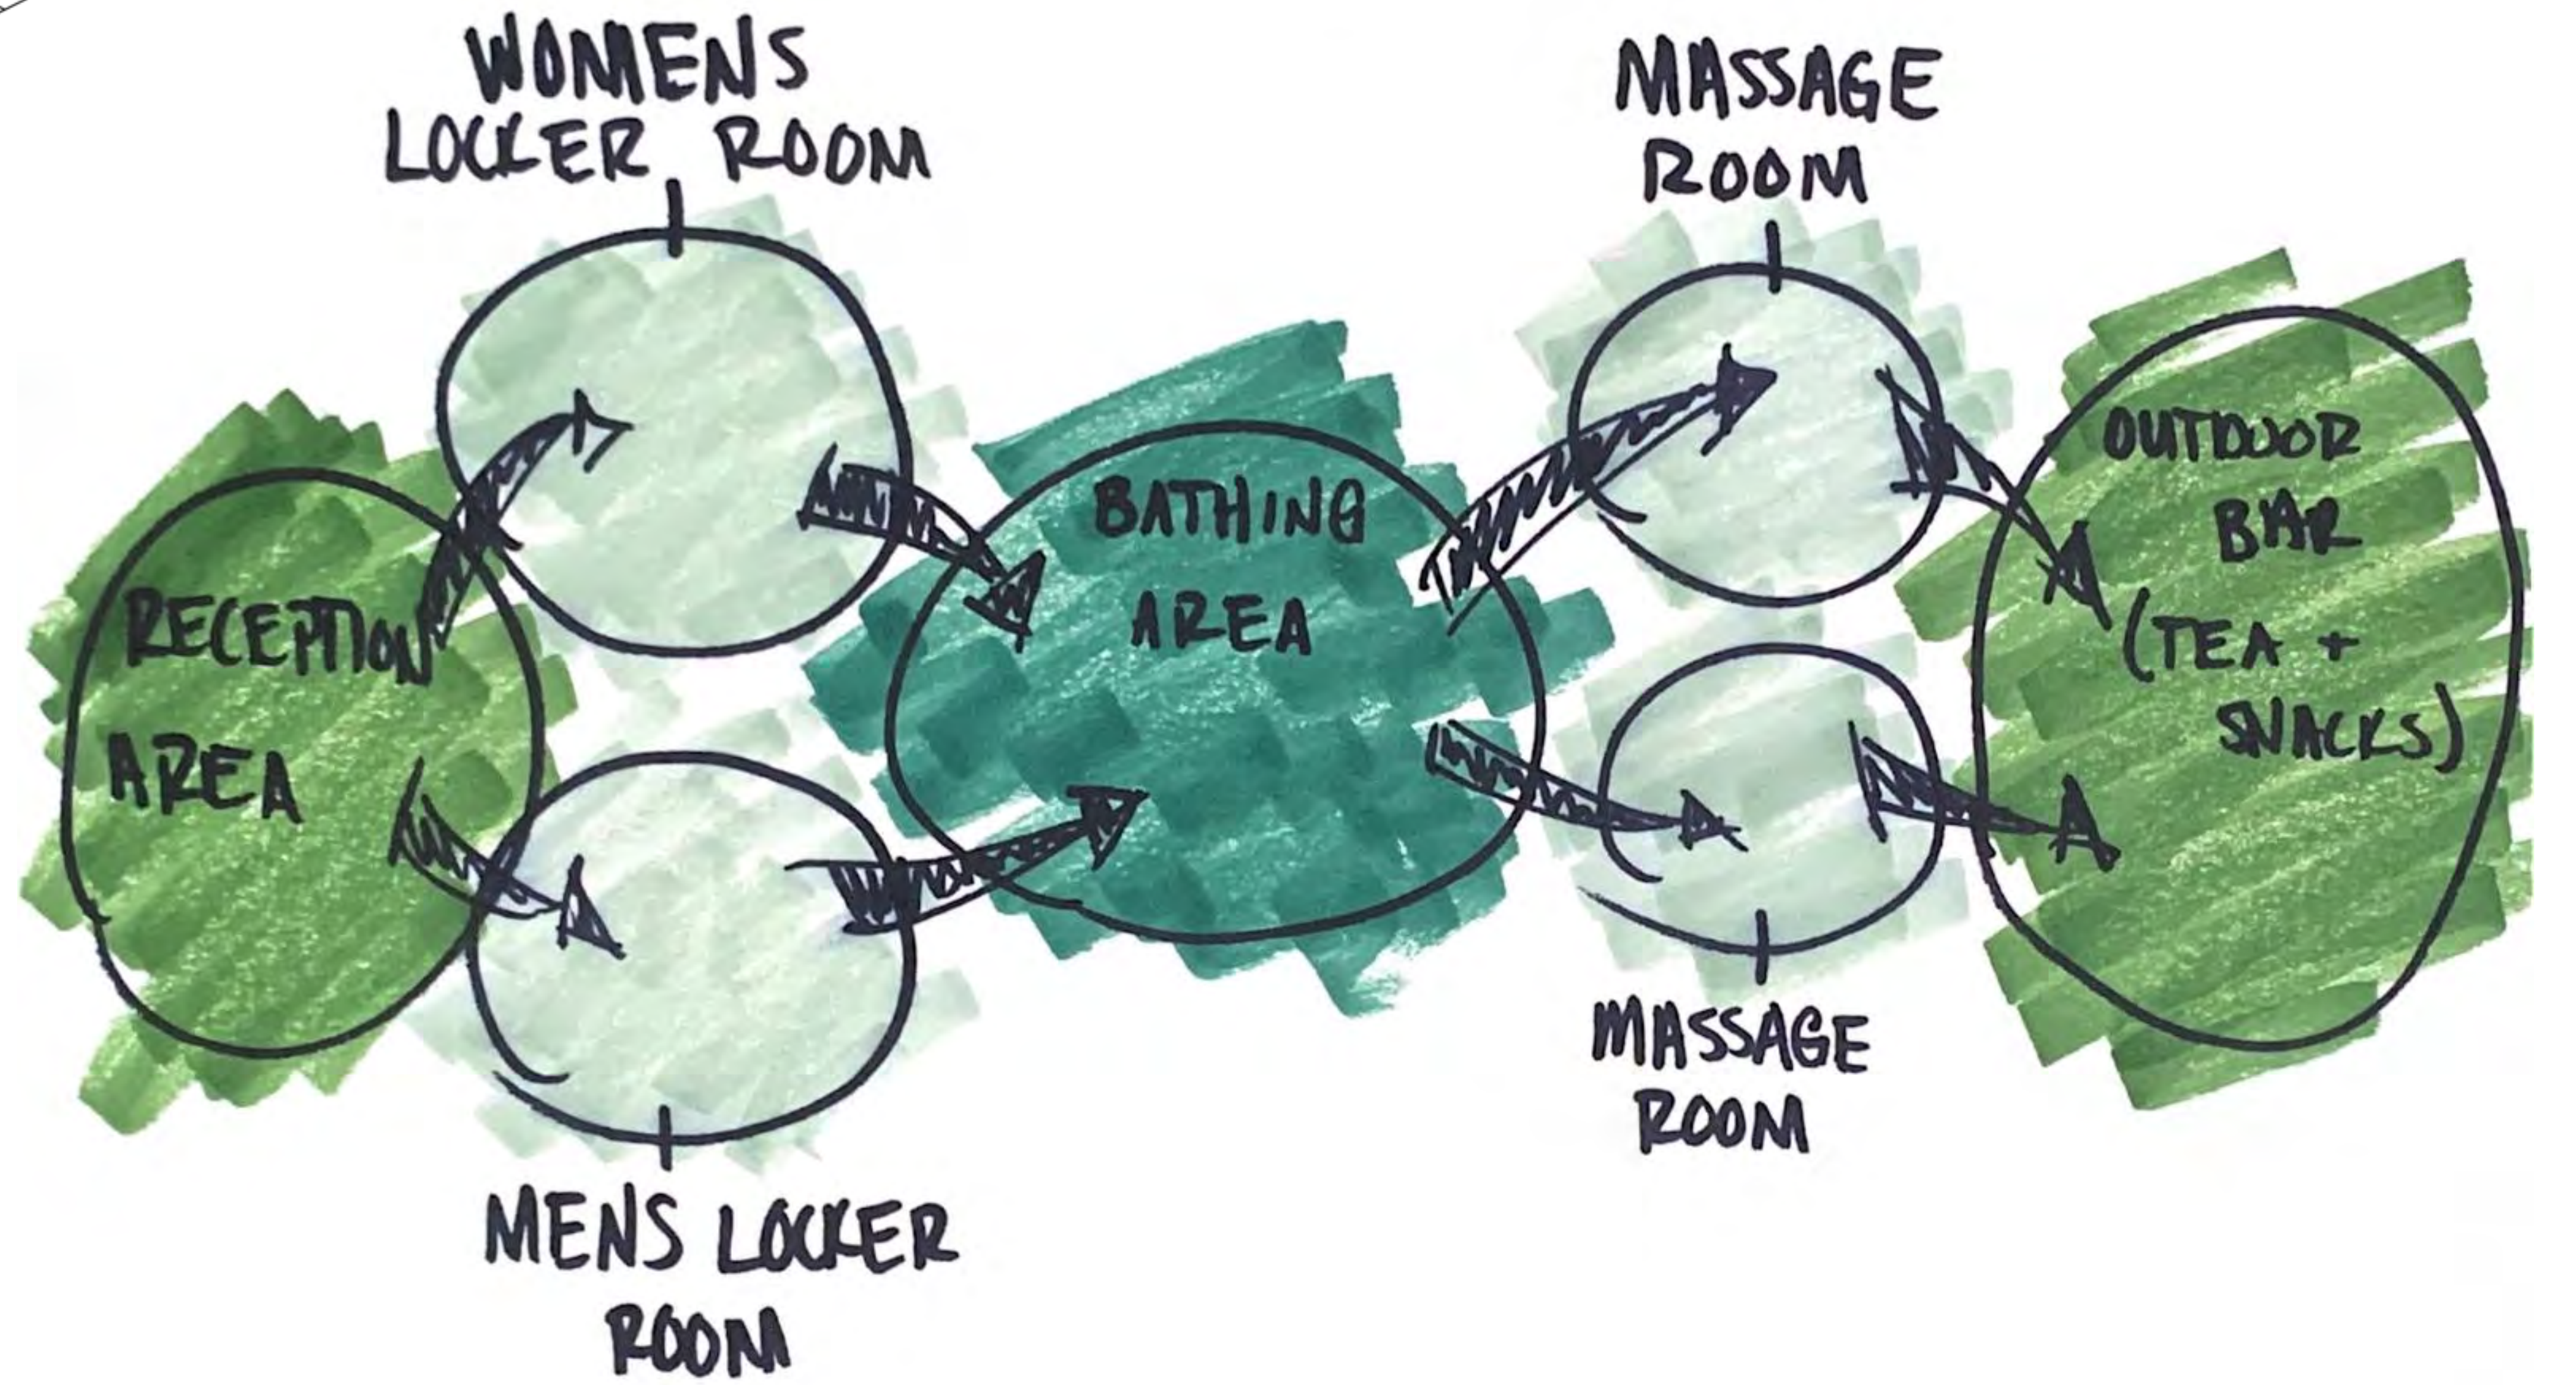

- Be comfortable with being naked.
- Cleanliness is key.
- Genders are separated.
- Tattoos are taboo.
- Be respectful.

Design Concept

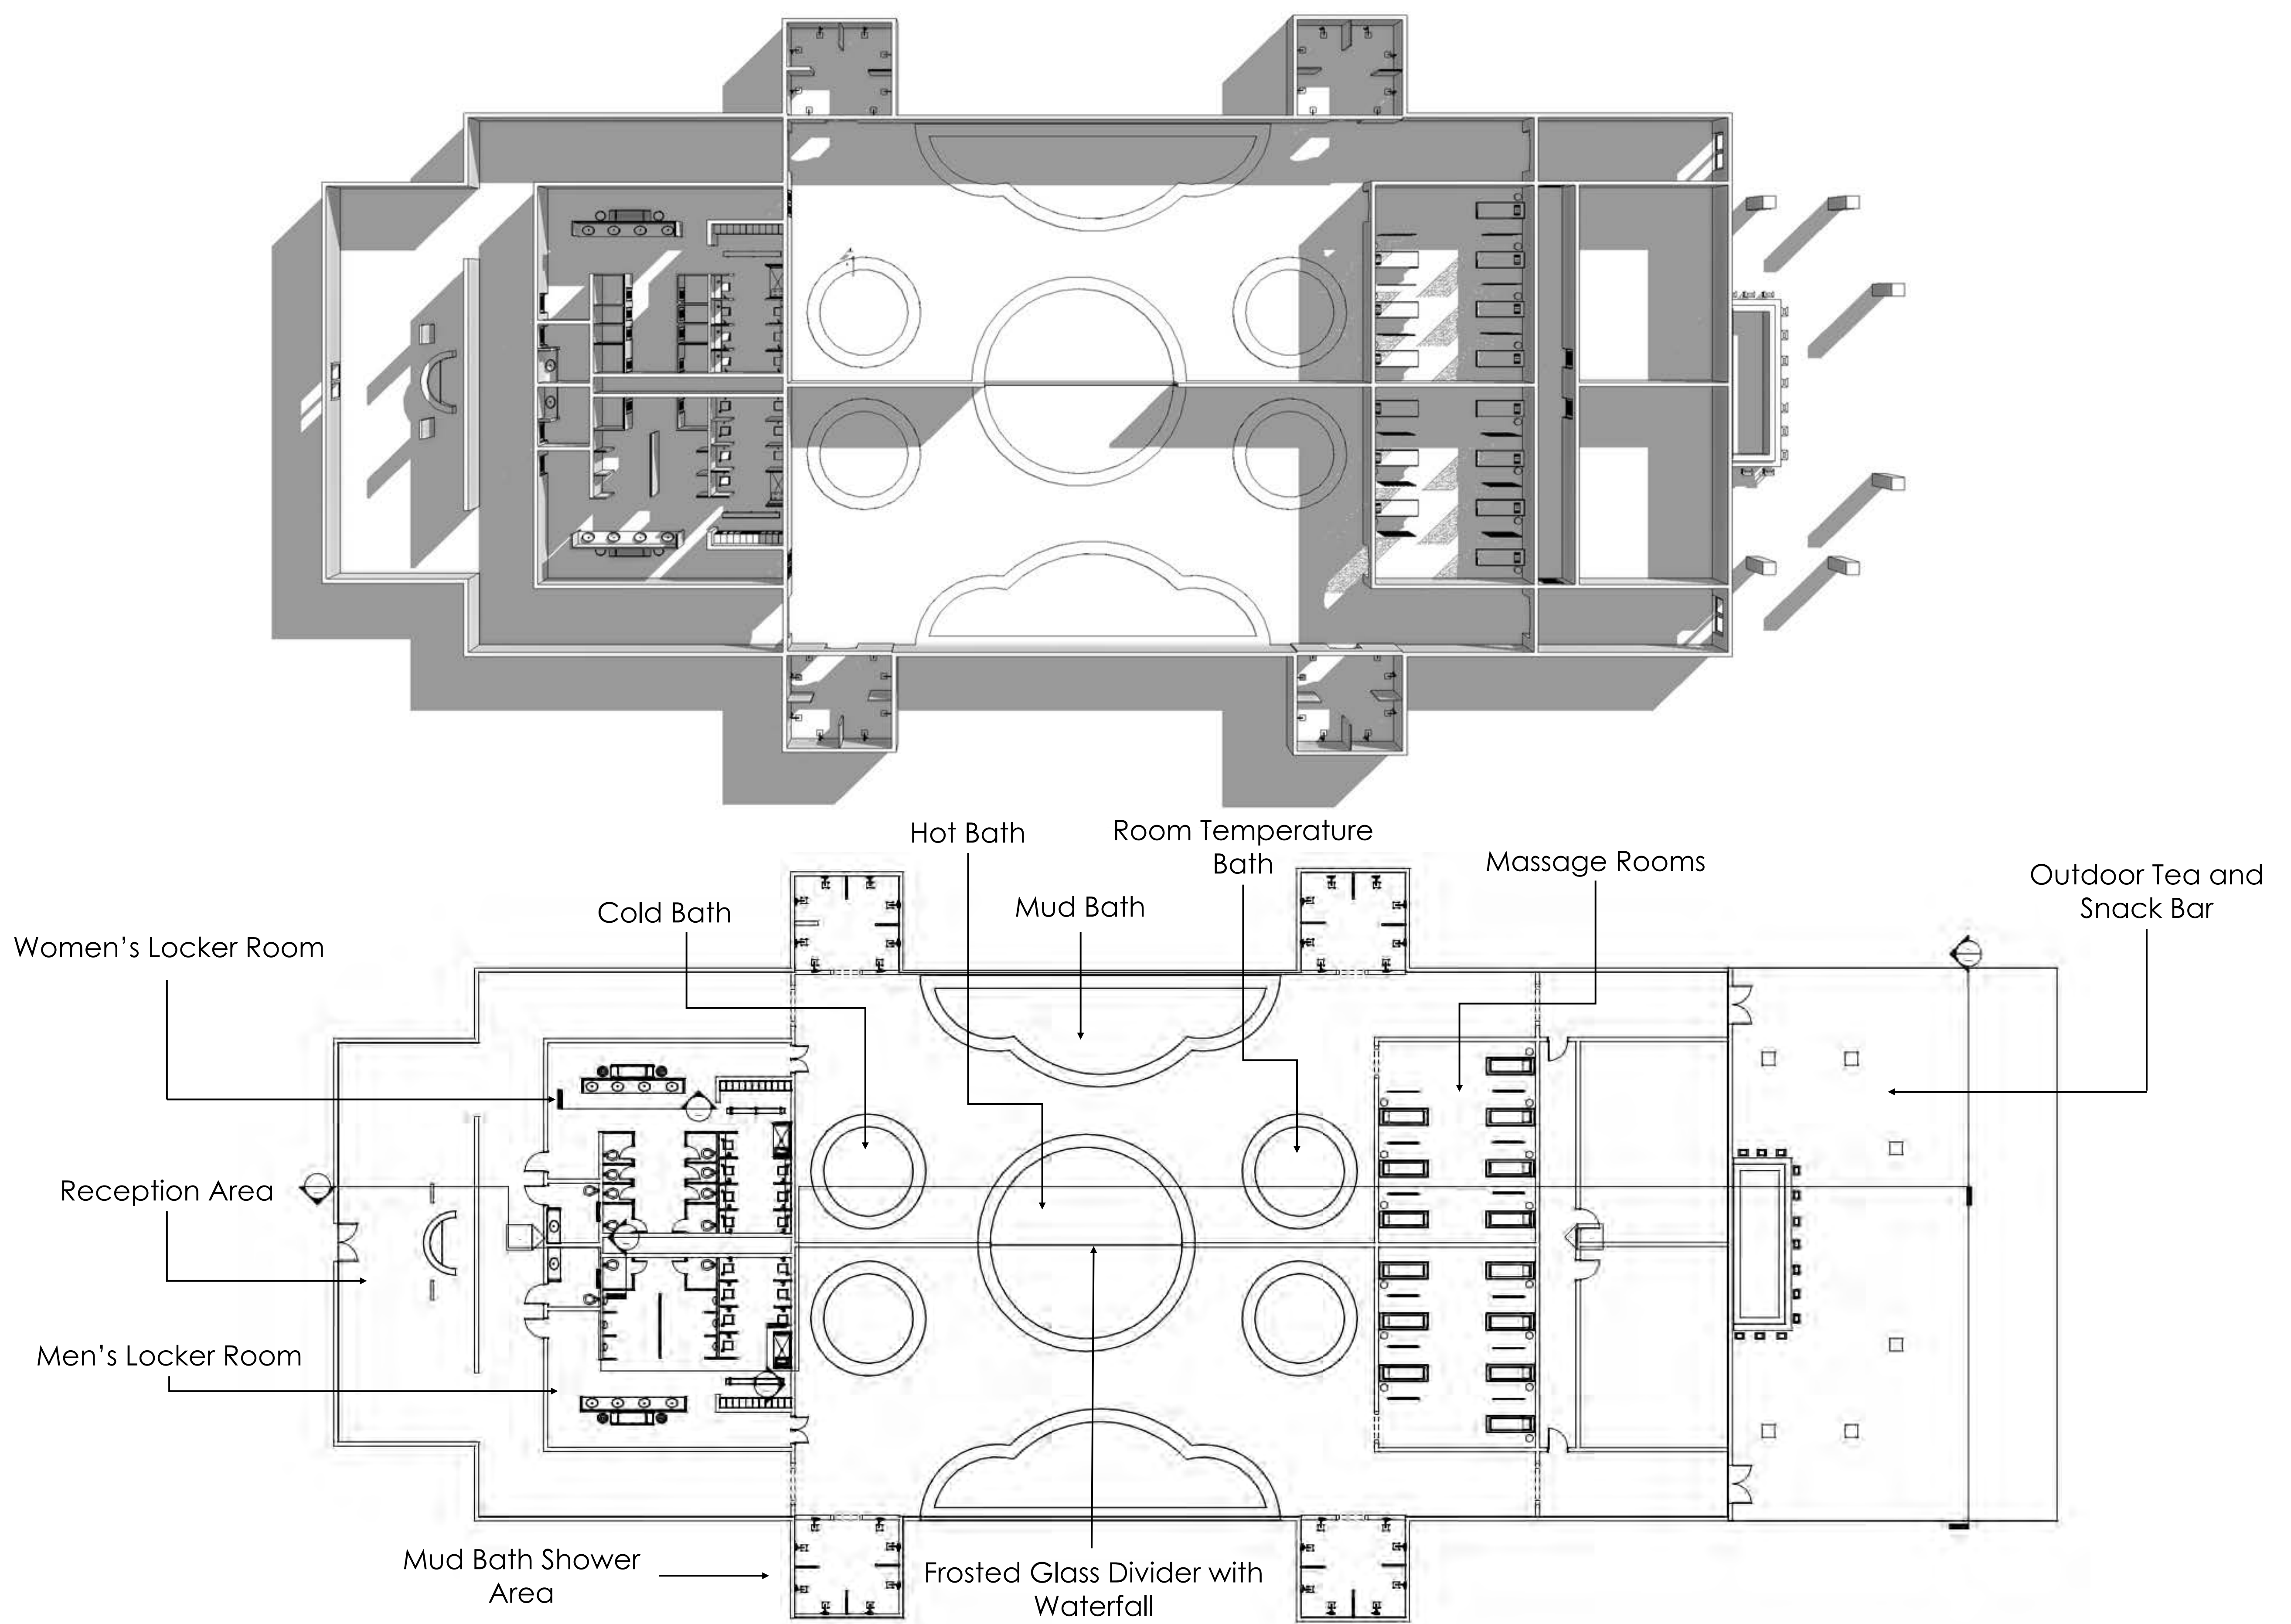

The design for the Japanese Bath House is based on a very symmetrical and modern design. To bring out the modernism of the space, thin wood slats are used as wall accents and there is very minimalistic decoration. The color scheme consists of blacks, whites and grays with metal and wood accents. The goal for the design is to follow the idea of relaxation with the symmetry and calming colors.
