

Sequential Story Summary Notes

Gracie Pall

- What is the story about? (Just a couple of sentences describing the story.)

The story takes inspiration from the Slavic folklore about Baba Yaga. The story is a warning of the old witch in the woods that the mother is telling her daughter.

- What makes the story complex, wonderful, entertaining or tragic?

Baba Yaga chasing the naughty children riding in a tall cauldron and a house with chicken legs that rotates.

- What types of details will the characters have?

The girl will have bright pink cheeks and traditional Slavic clothes while the witch Baba Yaga will be lanky with an iron long nose, white hair, and bone legs).

- What is the setting?

The girl's cabin in first few panels, the woods, and Baba Yaga's house

- What is the plot of the narrative and the genre in which it's set?

Child warned about the witch in the woods, doesn't listen, goes into woods, is chased by the house and Baba Yaga for stealing something (fruit? maybe candy?), runs all the way back home to mother. The genre is fictional horror, but very light on the horror.